THE DAYS OF MIRACLES

The days of miracles are not yet passed, Arthur Daly, working for George Smith, had occasion to be underneath a separator doing some repair work to the machine, when the tractor on to which it was hinged, was started up, put into low gear, clutch released, and the separator began to move. Mr. Daly had the presence of mind not to cry out for fear the separator would be brought to a stop resting on his limbs, but allowed the machine to pass over his legs, which was about at the thigh. Medical aid was summoned and although Mr. Daly did not appear in distress he was ordered to take an X-ray examination on Monday at Calgary. The photos revealed that no bones were broken, which seems that a miracle occurred—Old Gazette.

HEATH HAPPENINGS

The ladies of St. Patrick's W. A. held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. McLeod on September 20th. A bungalow tea was arranged to be held at the home of Mrs. J. Cumming, on October 18, and plans for a Chicken Supper to be held later on was also discussed.

Mr. and Mrs. McLeod have had as their visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Ballantyne and Mr. Riss, of Glasgow Scotland. They are on a three months tour from Coast to Coast.

GILT EDGE ORANGE DANCE

There is to be held a dance at the Park Hall, at Gilt Edge on Friday, September 28, under the auspices of the Orange Lodge. Gents 50c. Ladies bring cake. Good music. Everybody welcome.

More Smiles Needed

MOSCOW, Sept.—More humor and satire in everyday life and in literature was called for by Mikhail Koltsov, one of the leading satirists of the U. S. S. R., in a speech before the writers' congress here.

He ridiculed the attitude of editors and critics who maintain that humor has no place in proletarian life as yet and that it is wrong for the Soviet to satirize its own shortcomings.

"Laughter," he declared, "kills," and is therefore one of the best weapons to weed out faults.

The small number of humorists books and magazines here are the most popular, and are sold out the day they appear.

EDGERTON RIPPLES

Mrs. (Bath) Malldore was home from Wainwright for a few days.

Miss Ruth Guiley was an Edgerton visitor over the weekend, at the home of Mrs. Ira Kimble.

A large crowd attended the picture show on Saturday evening to see Will Rogers in State Fair.

Harvest Home services were held in St. Mary's Church on Sunday evening.

Mr. Chippin was an Edmonton visitor on Wednesday attending a meeting of the Northern Alberta Bank managers.

Bloomington's Ladies Aid met at the home of Mrs. Tunney on Thursday afternoon, with a large number of members in attendance.

Threshing operations are somewhat held up because of the absence of Sunny Albert. His vacation must be nearing its end, and we will be glad to welcome it home at any time.

SYDENHAM ECHOES

Miss M. Sinclair went home to Kilham for the weekend.

Sydenham Senior and Junior soft ball teams went to Mayfield last Monday. The Sydenham seniors were being 17 to 14 and the Mayfield Juniors won, score being 15 to 10.

Mr. F. W. Watts is building an addition to his barn.

Mrs. Cliff McDonald visited Mrs. Church, Sec., and Mrs. Fred Church, on Thuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Fox have their son, Russell, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Timball and daughters, from Ennawhite visiting them.

Janet Croteau has been on the sick list and been out of school for the past week.

Phil Brassard's children are on the sick list this week.

We are sorry to note that the little son of Bruce McNern is in the hospital with pneumonia.

Mr. Phil Brassard was thrown from the road grader and injured his arm.

A telephone meeting was held at Sydenham School on Friday and a company was formed by line 1 and 7 to purchase their line. President of company, L. E. Dean and Secretary, Luke Killoran.

WE WONDER WHY

If a member of your family dies, would you send out the obituary in a circular letter? If your wife entertained would you run a slide on the screen of the movie show? If you had visitors from out of town would you pin a notice up in the post office? If you were improving and enlarging your store would you tell people in a hotel register? If you were having a wedding at your house, would you only lighten the telephone pole? Then why in the heck don't you put your advertising in the newspaper too.

News About Town

Alex Everett is building a new implement shed on his farm.

Mr. Grover Lussell has just completed a modern two story henhouse as the start of a poultry farm.

A farewell party was given last Friday evening to Douglas Wallace by his many friends, at the Masonic Hall, before his departure to enter the University of Alberta.

Chas. Horne has been having several alterations and repairs made at his home on 9th avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Heathfield, of Biggar, Saskatchewan, are moving into the Messier house on 5th avenue, this week. Mr. Heathfield is superintendent of the northern Elevators.

Prepare to be comfortable this winter. Insulate your house with plaster board, felt and paper. Put on storm sash and doors, stucco or re-side your house. Everything to build. Anything at the Atlas Lumber Yard.

The Masonic District Meeting will be held on October 16th at Wainwright.

At their White Elephant Sale and Bean Supper on Saturday last, the ladies of the United Church cleared slightly over $30.00.

GIDDY GADDER'S CLUB HOLD ENJOYABLE PARTY

On Friday evening, the Giddy Gadder's Club met at the home of Miss Beatrice McKay in the form of a party, each girl inviting a boy friend.

The main part of the evening was spent in playing "snooty" bridge. Much merriment was caused by the various common prizes given to the winners and losers at each table.

A delicious luncheon was served shortly after mid-night afterwards which the card prizes were presented to, Miss Evelyn Kemp and Mr. Bill Cowley.

Music and singing completed the evening and everyone adjourned to their homes in the early hours.

Another Eskimo Baby

When the patrons gathered on the spacious floor of the Elite Theatre last Tuesday night to witness the hulling strains of our local orchestra they filled a mission something like that of a church choir a few Christmas eves ago.

The choir consisted of two parts, spinster ladies and bachelor gentlemen who failed to mix, so the hulling strains of our local orchestra they filled a mission something like that of a church choir a few Christmas eves ago.

Opening the anthem the spinsters loudly sang "Unto us a child is born. And the bachelors lustily responded, "Halleluiah."

So on Tuesday night another baby was born to the curling club, in the form of a wing for another sheet of ice. It will take some nursing to bring the $60.50 raised out of this first doing to the amount required to bring this new baby to maturity.

But for a town like Wainwright, it will be worth the effort when completed.

Expressing Opinions

Elsewhere in this paper appears an article in the Editor's Letter Box which breathes of politics. The editor wishes it distinctly understood that in any district there may be one or more individuals whose opinions are diametrically opposed to the majority. Yet those people should be given an opportunity of expressing their thoughts publicly. We have therefore published the letter and anyone whose thoughts run in a different direction, is welcome to respond to this, or any subsequent article, insofar as the editor is concerned.

Services at the United Church on Sunday last were taken by Mr. E. H. L. Thomas, who took the opportunity of giving a farewell message to his co-workers in Sunday School. Mr. Thomas leaves in the near future for Vancouver.

WARNING: There won't be nearly enough advance half price tickets for the Big Four guaranteed show, and Oh, those prizes, did you see them? Free for calling the right number. Juniors have the same opportunity at the big prizes, and you don't have to wait for the show, take it right home when you get your 25 cent ticket at Cork's. See their window, but act quickly as the prizes are not available with the regular tickets. Make this show your Thanksgiving treat.

Town Council Meeting

The Council of the Town of Wainwright met in regular session in the Council Chamber at 8:00 o'clock p.m. on Tuesday, the 18th instant.

The members of Council present at this meeting were Mayor Forster and Councillors Bill McLeach, McLeod, Courrier and Link.

The recorded proceedings of Council at its regular meeting of September 4th, 1934, were read and no motion, were confirmed and adopted as written.

Notice was received from the Royal Alexandra Hospital of the admission of Harry Bowers to that hospital and, on motion, the notice was ordered filed.

Mr. L. J. Killoran, Secretary-Treasurer of the Wainwright Roman Catholic School District Number 31, gave notice of a vacancy on the Board of Trustees of that district, occasioned by the resignation of Mr. Robert Tierney, and, on motion, his communication was referred to the Committee of Property, Assessment and By-Laws for the preparation of the necessary By-Law for the appointment of a returning officer for the conducting of an election for the filling of the vacancy, after which the communication was ordered filed.

On motion, the Mayor and Secretary-Treasurer were authorized to issue transfer of Lots 13, 14 and 15 in Block 7 Plan 6445 V in favor of Mr. Edna Link, attaching the Corporate Seal of the Town of Wainwright thereto under the respective signatures.

On motion, By-Law Number 218, being a by-law appointing a returning officer for the purpose of conducting an election of a school trustee to fill a vacancy on the Board of the Wainwright Roman Catholic Separate School District Number 31, was introduced.

Under regular procedure, By-Law Number 218 received its first and second readings and by unanimous consent was also read a third time at this meeting and the Mayor and Secretary-Treasurer were authorized to sign the said by-law and to attach the Corporate Seal of the Town of Wainwright thereto.

On motion, the arrangement of terms of sale and the upset prices of lots under which parcels will be offered for sale under the Tax Receiver Act on the 15th of October 1934, as advertised was placed in the hands of the Committee on Property, Assessment and By-Laws for adjustment and report to Council.

Councillor Welch gave notice that owing to the inclement weather of the past two weeks and the prospect of its continuance, he proposed that he will at the next regular meeting of Council on October 2nd, 1934 introduce a motion to amend the taxing resolution, passed at the regular meeting of June 5th, 1934, by striking out all words of the said motion following the words, "paid to the Secretary-Treasurer," where the latter words first appear in the said motion, and by substituting in place of the words so struck out the words, "On or before the 1st day of November A.D. 1934."

On motion, Council was regularly adjourned.

Bill Townsend returned from the East on Thursday morning and is again back on duty in the Bank of Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Schlitt and family visited at the home of Mrs. Schlitt's parents on Sunday at Bawlf.

"LAUGH AND THE WORLD LAUGHS WITH YOU, WEEP AND YOU WEEP ALONE"

Thousands of articles have been written by humorists, physicians, editors, etc., in an endeavor to get the people into a more light hearted and gayer mood, whether facing serious problems or a bright holiday. One often hears an axiom to bear out the thought, such as the above reading.

From Russia now comes the statement that the suggestion has been passed out to the people to endeavor to keep up humor and brighten conversation even with satire.

Is This Real Sport?

The International yacht race for the America Cup between the British challenger "Endeavour" and the United States defender "Walsh" is the subject of innumerable newspaper and magazine articles reviewing the history of this famous cup and setting forth facts and figures indicating the vast expenditure of money and effort on the part of the multi-millionaires who alone can afford to indulge in this sport. This yacht race is not a money-making venture on the part of those who engage in it; quite the reverse. No gate admission can be charged, and the spectacle is free to all those who can get within sight of it.

But the cost of building even one of these yachts and financing it during the trial races and the short race period runs well over a million dollars, and with several boats involved, the actual total cost is staggering. Is it all worth while? Are such huge expenditures of money for such a purpose justified at any time, and particularly so at this time when millions of people in the two countries concerned are in need of the bare necessities of life? Are those who possess such wealth to such a purpose real sportsmen, are they making any actual contribution to the well-being of their fellow-men?

What is real sport? What is, or should be, its aim and object? Real sport, if we understand it aright, should provide recreation from the everyday toils and worries of life, and it should, therefore, be engaged in, not by a select few, but by the masses. Secondly, its aim should be the development of the physical and mental of all who engage in it, coupled with the inculcation and development of those traits of character which recognize and insist upon fairplay, respect for a competitor, observance of the rules of the game whatever it may be, acceptance of defeat with good grace and a smile, and of victory with a becoming modesty.

If this is a correct definition of real sport, then it should never become a mere money-making enterprise in any of its branches. As a matter of fact, when it develops into a money-making enterprise it ceases to be sport in its true sense and becomes a business with gate receipts and salaries the main objective, while all the principles underlying real sport are sacrificed to skill.

Unfortunately, much of the so-called sport of to-day has degenerated from the ideal of amateurism to professionalism; from love of the game to love of the dollars that may be earned. It is no longer sport or recreation, but a cold, competitive business.

This has long been true of baseball in the United States. Tens of thousands of people pack the stands to watch sixteen highly trained experts "play" ball. These thousands cheer themselves hoarse for the "home" team, although not one of the "players" may be a native son or even a resident of the home city, but imported men from anywhere simply because they have the knack to excel in a certain position on the baseball diamond. Such is the great national game of the United States; but it is not sport. It is nothing but a business, highly organized to this end, to provide money for the owners of the franchise and their high-salaried ball-playing employees. Instead of the thousands of spectators being benefited physically or otherwise, the reverse is true; they ought to be actively participating during these leisure hours in some health giving recreation.

In its heyday, lacrosse, the old national game of Canada, was an amateur sport. Thousands of boys engaged in it for the love of the game and the exercise they obtained from it, and Canada's national game died. Canada's great winter game, ice-hockey, is travelling the same road, thanks to the adoption of the game by the United States and the invasion of the so-called sport magnates with their offers of large salaries to expert hockey players. Professionalism makes inroads into football, golf, tennis. Only a few games, curiously, for instance, remain free of the taint.

What and who are responsible for this deterioration? First, the money-grabbing instinct of men. Secondly, universities and colleges to a considerable extent. Large universities pay extravagant salaries to physical sports managers and trainers, not for the purpose of developing the physical well-being of all members of their student bodies, but to build up a championship crew or team in the varied departments of sport to carry the college colors to victory and thus advertise the university and command the admiration and ultimate enrolment of youth from all over the country. It is no longer sport in its true sense, but a business proposition with such institutions.

With but few exceptions, people love sports. Practically every child likes to play games. It is a natural born instinct, and it has its place, and a big place, in the physical, mental and moral development of youth. But it is being perverted to gross material ends, with the result that sport in its real sense is largely lacking in the larger centres of population, and we must go to the small towns, villages and rural communities to find games and sporting events engaged in by the masses for the intrinsic love and joy of the game. Sport in its true sense and meaning should be strongly encouraged everywhere, but it is time a halt was called to professionalism in sport, and to its twin evil making proficiency in any one branch of it the end-all of one's existence.

Use Ultra-Violet Rays

Flares Equipped For Toning Up Dials On Instrument Board

Ultra-violet rays have become standard equipment on aeroplanes engaged in night flying.

Pilots found that the radium dials of the instruments and gauges became dull unless radio-activity in them was stimulated occasionally. So ultra-violet rays boxes were installed. The boxes, not much larger than safety match holders, are fastened to the steering post arms in the planes. Since ultra-violet rays are invisible there is no reflection against the windshield when the pilots use them.

Monkeys Have Gone Nazi

Animals In London Zoo Give Salute To Visitors

A special cable from London to the New York Herald Tribune says the monkeys of Regent Park Zoo have gone Nazi.

In a recent week, it appears, a German visitor to London taught Jimmy, one of the zoo's chimpanzees, to give the Nazi salute in return for bananas. Other Simians promptly imitated him, and to-day the entire monkey house was enthusiastically giving the "Heil Hitler" with up-raised paws whenever visitors arrived.

Looseness Of The Bowels During the Summer Months

It is seldom, during the summer, that most people are not troubled with some form of looseness of the bowels. Generally it develops into Diarrhoea, Dysentery or Summer Complaint, and has a tendency to weaken the system.

Do not check the discharges too suddenly. Do not experiment with a new and untried remedy, but take Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, a remedy that has been used by thousands of families during the past 88 years.

Do not accept a substitute. Be sure and get "Dr. Fowler's" when you ask for it.

Prince Assisted Miners

Wanted Royalties Until Mine On Estate Was Self-Supporting

The Prince of Wales went down a Somerset coal mine that came to life close to the spot where a coal mine had died.

There is a human story behind this "new coal field for an old one." The prince heard it from one of the doughty West of England colliers who conducted him round the mine.

Thirteen years ago a coal mine at Farrington Gurney closed down. Three hundred men were thrown out of work. They were idle and forced to go on the "dole."

Three years later, determined to make work for themselves, a small band of them applied to the Prince of Wales for a concession to dig close to their dead coal field. It lay in the prince's duchy estate.

The prince lent a sympathetic ear to the colliers' plea. He told the men the duchy would waive any royalties until the mine was self-supporting.

This meant to work. After digging excavating they struck coal. Every now and again the prince inquired how the mine was working.

Now the mine is paying for itself. Fifty men are in full-time employment; one hundred and thirty-five tons of household coal are raised every week. And the Duchy of Cornwall is receiving its dues.

The prince received a royal welcome from the black-faced colliers. Then he disappeared half a mile under the ground for a quarter of an hour and watched the men dig for coal.

He reappeared, his hands black from the low corridors where he had bent almost double.

DOUBLED UP WITH RHEUMATISM

Could Not Wash Himself Nor Brush His Hair

So bad was his rheumatism that his friends declared he would never rise again. Although he is 70 years old, he proved they were wrong.

Read what he says— "I am now seventy years of age. Last Christmas I was completely doubled up with rheumatism. I could not wash my hair nor wash myself. People said I should never work any more. I am working harder than a young man to-day. Thanks to Kruschen Salts. I take them in my tea, and I have recommended them to many. I could not get in or out of bed myself, nor sit up. But now I work now—12 hours a day sometimes. Kruschen Salts have done it."

Rheumatic conditions are the result of an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts have the power of dissolving uric acid crystals. Other ingredients assist Nature to expel these dissolved crystals through the natural channel. In addition, there are still other salts in Kruschen which prevent fermentation in the intestines, and thereby check the further accumulation of only uric acid, and other body poisons which undermine the health.

Preparing For Trip

Duke Of Gloucester Studied Books On Australia

A tall, fresh-complexioned, well-tailored young man in brown soft hat and brown shoes was exploring an Oxford-street book shop in a recent week.

He had found his way to a large collection of books, some old but most of them recent, dealing with every phase of life in the British Empire. From the way he went about the collection, with one of the assistants, studying maps and pictures of certain countries, it was clear that he was either a student or a traveller preparing to go on a long voyage—or both. As a matter of fact he was both. He was the Duke of Gloucester. Evidently he was making a careful selection of books to prepare himself for the long journey to Australia.

In the three Prairie Provinces on August 10, 1934, the estimated acreage showed a decrease of 1,881,000 acres, or 7.5 per cent in wheat; a decrease of 70,000 acres or 2.3 per cent in barley; and a decrease in flaxseed of 17,500 acres, or 7.4 per cent. Oats increased by 170,000 acres or 1.9 per cent, and rye also increased by 149,300 acres, or 28.7 per cent.

Difficult To Replace

Substitution of other forms of revenue for the tariff as a source of national income would be difficult in Canada, Hon. George H. Bowdler, chairman of Canada's tariff board, declared before the maritime conference on Canadian affairs held at Halifax.

A tax of about 10 cents a gallon is levied on gasoline in England.

Air Survey Reveals Ruins

Ancient Earthworks Suspected For Centuries Were Invisible From Ground

A mound-builders' ceremonial chapel and an ancient roadway, approximately two and one-half miles long, were discovered for the first time near Newark, Ohio following completion of an aerial survey by Captain A. W. Stevens, intrepid army photographer and participant in the recent ill-fated attempt to invade the stratosphere.

The discovery was made by Dr. Henry C. Shetrone, archaeologist and director of the Ohio State Museum while examining air photographs taken by Capt. Stevens at museum offices in Columbus, Ohio.

Excavated from the ground, these once mighty ancient earthworks, believed constructed by Hopewell Indians, have lain unseen for centuries unnoticed by residents of this vicinity.

The roadway, which is 150 feet wide, is of perfect geometric proportions and indicates that people of the Hopewell era had some knowledge of that mathematical science, museum officials believe.

A keyhole-shaped figure on the air photo, the chapel, which lies at the road's southwest termination, is approximately 200 feet in diameter at its circular part and is believed to have been a ceremonial oracle of the Hopewell tribes.

Located between two perfectly proportioned circular Indian mounds southwest of the city, the territory in which the new discoveries were made has long been a mecca for archaeologists and tourists.

Tunnels and elaborate underground burial rooms similar to those found in the world famous Ogden Mounds near Lewistown, Ill., also products of Hopewell culture, might be found as a result of the new discovery Shetrone believes.

First research of the Newark Indian burial grounds was made in 1848 by Squire and Davis, early archaeologists who explored Ohio and the Middle West.

Although they indicated the beginning of the road on a map filed with the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, no further trace of the earthworks had been discovered until the air exploration by Captain Stevens, museum officials say.

When Duties Are Divided

Work Is Very Seldom Done As It Should Be

Affairs at the French ministry of finance, where the windows are never clean because, as someone has just discovered, the ministry of finance is responsible for the inside and the ministry of fine arts for the outside, and the two ministries never arrange to clean both sides at once, had an almost exact parallel nearer home in early Victorian days. When the prince consort began inquiring into arrangements at Buckingham Palace, which he found far from satisfactory, he was informed that the lord chamberlain had charge of all the interior rooms except the kitchens and pantries, which were under the steward, while the exterior came under the office of woods and forests, and that they likewise failed to synchronize in cleaning the windows. On demanding why there was never a fire in the dining room, he was told "the lord chamberlain lays the fire, and the lord steward lights it."

As the underlings of those two great officers were in disagreement the queen was left to dine in the cold.—Manchester Guardian.

Need Coin-Container

Philatelists Sending Money Through Mail Use Variety Of "Stickum"

A crew of 15 postal clerks at Yellowstone Park, Wyoming, which handled the 90,000 requests for first-day covers on the new Yellowstone stamp issued recently, wonder why someone has not invented a special coin-container for philatelists.

Collectors sending in five, ten, twenty-five, and fifty-cent pieces used every conceivable method in making the cash enclosures with the new stamp, while the exterior came under the office of woods and forests, and that they likewise failed to synchronize in cleaning the windows. On demanding why there was never a fire in the dining room, he was told "the lord chamberlain lays the fire, and the lord steward lights it."

The clerks all exhibited sore thumbs and fingers from ligging for the well-protected cash.

Cook's Home Rebuilt

In Australian Park

Even Ivy Taken To Melbourne With Explorer's Cottage

Packed in 263 boxes and transported by 35 lorries, Captain Cook's cottage was taken through the streets of Melbourne, Australia, on its arrival by the steamer to the Fitzroy Gardens, where it is to be re-erected in connection with the centenary celebrations.

Everything about the Y-kahine cottage has been preserved with amazing thoroughness, even to the creak on the staircase, as one might remark. Stones for the walls flagstones for the floor, joists rafters and beams have all been marked and numbered.

A bag has been forwarded containing the original mortar which held brick and stone together, also a bag of nails which will not be much used for hammering in, but interesting as showing the type used.

The ivy alone will not be replaced in its original state. The quarantine authorities demand that it be fumigated, as a potential source of disease. In exchange for the cottage, Cook's birthplace, Great Ayton, Yorks, is to possess a stone obelisk modelled on the monument commemorating his discovery at Cape Everard.

Fall rye in Canada, as at August 10, 1934, shows a yield of 5,239,000 bushels from 587,100 acres, compared with 3,454,000 bushels from 434,900 acres in 1933.

Of 35,500 insured workers in Luton, England, only 700 are out of work.

Lignite Coal

Development Of Coal Field In Saskatchewan Carried On Successfully

Development of high moisture lignite deposits in southern Saskatchewan, which are located a considerable distance to the east of other fuel sources of Western Canada, has been carried on successfully throughout the depression years. R. L. Sutherland, consulting engineer for the Saskatchewan Coal Operators' Association, told the western meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy at Calgary.

"The increase in production in the Saskatchewan field and use in recent years when the general trend of production has been downward," he said, "has been due in part to economic conditions and in part to improved preparation at the mines."

The more densely populated sections of Saskatchewan and Manitoba, he said, offered a wide market for the southern Saskatchewan fuel.

SUSPECT IN THE LINDBERGH CASE IS APPREHENDED

New York. — Police Commissioner John R. O'Brien issued the following statement in connection with the Lindbergh case:

"The taking into custody of Bruno Richard Hauptmann marks urelenting and closely co-ordinating efforts on the part of the New York police department, the Jersey troopers and the department of Justice to bring to a solution of the Lindbergh kidnapping and with the facts at hand we are satisfied that the first and most important stage of the police work has been accomplished.

"The story as related by the detectives who have been engaged in the case for more than two and a half years might best be told in chronological fashion.

"Within two days after the payment of the ransom money in St. Raymond's cemetery, a $20 gold certificate was discovered in the East River Savings Bank, on Amsterdam avenue and 96th street.

"Subsequently, one of the ransom bills, bearing an automobile license number, was discovered in the Corn Exchange Bank at Park avenue and 125th street. From there the bill was traced to a gas station in the vicinity of the bank.

"The operator of the gas station described the customer who passed the $20 gold certificate in an almost identical fashion to the one described by the Fordham shoe store proprietor.

"The customer who passed the $20 gold certificate in an almost identical fashion as the one described by the Fordham shoe store proprietor.

"Securing the name and address of the owner of the automobile bearing the license number appearing on the bill, the investigators kept the premises under surveillance. Because of the importance of the case and the danger in the least possible slip-up, the men acted with caution and at 9 o'clock Tuesday, Sept. 18, Bruno Richard Hauptmann was seen to leave his residence in the automobile bearing the license which appeared on the bill, and started toward Yorkville, with the detectives following.

"When his car reached Tremont and Park avenue, the detectives halted Hauptmann's car, directed him to get out and searching him, found another $20 gold certificate identified as part of the Lindbergh ransom money.

"He was immediately taken back to his house and while questioned there admitted passing the $10 and $20 gold certificates found by the police. He denied, however, all knowledge of the Lindbergh ransom money.

"Meanwhile, a search of the place was instituted and a pair of shoes located and identified by the Fordham shoe store proprietor as found on the bill.

"Today, in continuation of the search of the house, Detective John Murphy, Frank Dunn and James Petrucci, of the New York police department; Sergeant Wallace, of the New Jersey State Police, and Special Agent Turo of the United States Justice found, after a diligent search of the entire premises, $13,750 hidden under the floor of the garage and in the sash of the door.

"From the many conflicting stories Hauptmann has told detectives, we learned that he is 35 years old, born in Saxony, Germany, and after serving in the German army, stowed away on the steamship Washington, arriving in the United States at New York in 1923.

"He explains the presence of the money as a result of careful savings, and the gold certificates as forsworn, with word of the supposed inflation shortly after President Roosevelt took office."

Ship Reaches Craig Harbor

Ottawa.—Canada's 1934 expedition to the posts in the eastern Arctic has reached its most northerly objective, Craig Harbor, on the south coast of Ellesmere Island. Wireless dispatches received in the department of the interior report the S.S. Nascopie, carrying the Dominion government party, had reached the far northern post.

Going To Ottawa

Gulph, Ont.—Robert J. Donnell, young Guelph carillonneur, has been appointed Dominion carillonneur at Ottawa for a year during the absence of Percival Price, it is announced here. Mr. Price, winner of the Pulitzer music prize in 1934, is leaving for Switzerland for one year's tuition.

Meisner Surrenders

Claims He Had Nothing To Do With Labatt Case

Detroit. — Asserting he did not "have the first thing to do with this kidnapping," David Meisner, one of two men sought by Canadian and Detroit authorities in connection with the kidnapping a month ago of John Labatt, Ontario brewer, surrendered to detectives here.

Meisner said he could produce "all the witnesses in the world—even policemen," to prove he was in Cincinnati at the time of the kidnapping for $150,000 which, so far as known, has not been paid to date.

He surrendered to Inspector John Hoffman, of the special investigation squad, after making an appointment.

Hoffman said Meisner surrendered without any conditions.

The other man sought is Albert Pagan.

Communists Shout Insults

At Queen Wilhelmina

Three Members Of Parliament Arrested At The Banquet

The Hague, Netherlands.—Three Communist members of parliament who shouted insults after Queen Wilhelmina had finished her speech from the throne were arrested and jailed as an infuriated mob tried to get at them.

Police, fearing an outbreak of violence as the temper of the throng about the parliament building grew hostile, led the men to prison by a secret route.

It was the first time in the history of the Netherlands that members of parliament were arrested in the course of a session. They were released later.

Circus Lion Caused Panic

Shot By Guards After Escape From Cage During Parade

Richmond, Va.—Breaking open his cage during a circus parade a lion dragged down a horse pulling one of the wagons and then ran at liberty down North boulevard while crowds of spectators fled in panic.

Circus guards shortly after shot the animal to death.

The beast ran several hundred yards down the street after Patrolman John Robert Paul had fired five times at him as he sank his fangs into the horse's neck, taking refuge in the Hawkins-Johnson sheet metal works. A circus guard fired four times at the beast. A policeman finished the wounded animal with a pistol bullet.

War Is Denounced

Church Of England Opposes Strife As Means Of Settling Disputes

Montreal.—With almost unanimous accord, members of the general synod of the Church of England in Canada, by resolution, denounced war as a means of settling disputes between nations.

The resolution, moved by Rev. Canon W. H. Devlin, Montreal, and seconded by Magistrate J. E. Jones, Toronto, was to accept the principle laid down by the Lambeth conference of the Church of England.

On the principle that Canada should be proud of "No," which he declared: "I say that the movers of this resolution are responsible for these men's deaths."

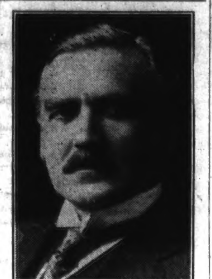

Ven. Archdeacon F. G. Scott, of Quebec, famous war padre, rose to reply to Mr. Richards.

"The last thing General Sir Arthur Currie did," Archdeacon Scott reminded the synod, "was to send a message to the university veterans in Toronto imploring them to start a movement to say that war is a futile test and not a test of the manhood of the world. That came as the general's last order from his death bed."

Mr. Richards, of the University of Toronto, replied.

Takes Heavy Toll

Chinese Refugees Tell Of Lives Lost In Flood

Taokow, China.—An unending stream of bedraggled refugees from the region flooded by the Yellow river, their homes and livelihood destroyed, has poured into Taokow.

Government officials were considering a drastic proposal to transfer many of the refugees from the river valley to unsettled territories in Sui-yuan province for rehabilitation.

Their crops destroyed and not knowing what to do, the refugees, wandering aimlessly, tell stories of acute suffering and vast loss of life in the flooded regions of southern Hopei and northern Honan provinces.

It was reported thousands, clustered together like frightened sheep, still occupy high spots in the Yellow river valley. Some still live in tree tops. Rescue work is proceeding slowly. The walled city of Changyuan has become an island, swirling flood water surrounding it.

Creamery Survey In Alberta

For Purpose Of Determining Cost Of Manufacturing Butter

Edmonton.—Beginning in Calgary and in Edmonton, a creamery survey has been launched under the joint auspices of the provincial dairy branch, the University of Alberta and the Dominion department of agriculture.

The purpose of the survey is to make a study of the cost of manufacturing butter in Alberta and also of the cost of trucking or otherwise delivering cream supplies.

HAVANA RIOT LINK IN SHIP FIRES?

Havana police have launched an investigation to determine whether a riot of dock workers at the Cuban capital as the liner, Morro Castle, was about to leave on her tragic voyage, may have some connection with the disastrous fire aboard the ship. This photo shows an aftermath of the riot, a young girl, injured as she stood watching the rioting, being lifted into an ambulance.

Morro Castle Quiz

Startling Information Is Gleaned From Investigation

New York.—If obeyed, the last order from the bridge to the engine room of the Morro Castle would have left the flaming Ward liner circling about the ocean, a whirl of death and fire, evidence at the United States department of commerce inquiry showed.

The engine crew, however, disobeyed the order and put the engines into neutral.

This testimony was given by an 18-year-old Massachusetts Institute of Technology student, William Wesley Tripp, who was on the tragic voyage from Havana as a cadet engineer.

Details of the death of Captain Robert R. Willmott—who suffered an acute attack of indigestion and died only several hours before fire broke out on his liner—were given by Howard Hanson, the fourth officer, who testified he saw no marks of violence on the body.

Rumors have been persistent that the master met foul play. The few charred bones found in the cabin where his body was cremated in the holocaust, are now being examined for any evidence of poison.

Against Works Program

Calgary Wants To Spend Federal Grant In Own Way

Calgary.—By a polling of more than five to one, Calgary's property owners turned down a public works program involving expenditure of $180,000 granted by the Dominion government for that purpose alone.

The plebiscite, in which only one-fifth of the registered voters cast their ballots, coincided with the city's determination to seek leave from the Dominion government to spend the appropriation on civic finance other than public works. Mayor Andrew Davison visited Edmonton to enlist the backing of the Alberta government in such an arrangement.

The citizens voted 2,889 against and 555 for repairs to the horse show building at the exhibition grounds totalling $15,000; 2,867 against and 392 for an assembly hall and gymnasium at Western Canada high school to cost $95,000, and 2,516 against, 782 for a public swimming pool estimated at $70,000.

DISCLOSE PLOT TO OVERTHROW SPANISH GOV'T

Madrid.—The government was confident it had disclosed a plot of enormous proportions to overthrow the Spanish republic and establish a "proletarian state" by means of a revolution more bloody than the recent abortive uprising in Austria.

Wholesale murder of public officials, terrorism throughout the country, capture of the government arms manufacturing plants at Oviedo and Pavia and an announcement of Leftist elements of the air force and army had been planned, according to information the government claimed to have obtained.

Premier Ricardo Samper conferred with President Alcala Zamora at his home and an announcement afterward said he was sure the leading plotters, socialists and extremists, would be apprehended promptly.

Plans said to have been disclosed included a revolutionary general strike throughout Spain with a carefully-scheduled campaign of sabotage and other terrorism.

Squads of machine gunners were to have been designated for transporting in trucks to villages and towns, arousing the proletarian masses and massacring the opposition, cutting communications, taking over banks, and assuming complete power.

While civil guards continued searching homes of known extremist leaders for weapons, the premier gave the President the details of the reported conspiracy to set up "a proletarian state" and assured Zamora that the government was prepared for any emergency. All government buildings were guarded.

A truckload of arms captured and documents found in the possession of Francisco Ordonez, athletic-coach at Madrid University, arrested on the university athletic field, gave away the plot, authorities said, and created widespread alarm in government circles.

In the truck seized were 34 cases of machine gun bullets, 60 cases of rifle shells, 300 rifle clips, 34 machine gun belts, five liquid flame machines, and three 14-millimeter guns capable of piercing armor plate.

DANGER OF WAR IN THE FAR EAST IS LESSENER

Geneva.—Busy with efforts to end war in South America, delegates to the League of Nations heard that the danger of war in the Far East has lessened.

A day of debate as to the best way of halting the conflict in the Chaco Boreal was lightened by the assertion of Russian spokesmen, made privately, that relations between Japan and Russia have improved.

The Russian sources also stated their belief that both Japan and Germany, recent withdrawals from the league, may be induced to return. Other quarters held similar hopes but declined to forecast their quick realization.

Geneva developments of the past few days, headed by the Soviet's admission to the League, have created the following impressions among delegates, says a dispatch:

1. Both Japan and Germany are doing some hard thinking as to the advisability of returning to the League, their train of thought started by Russia's entry.

2. A period of delicate negotiations with Japan to remove existing causes of friction will be necessary. Russian sources forecast, and other members of the League council fear that hostilities may break out before they are completed.

3. Leaders of the League look to the United States to help settle the Chaco conflict under the aegis of the League, believing that simultaneous peace efforts along other lines would only offer an excuse for prolongation of the war.

4. Efforts to form an agreement among the powers to protect Austria's independence by co-operative armed intervention thus far have not progressed notably, because Great Britain declines to participate and Yugoslavia balks Italian leadership in such an effort.

5. France and Russia have become "dancing partners" if not actual allies.

Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, and Louis Barthou, French foreign minister, who staunchly defended Russia's League candidacy, continued to centre the interest of the curious here. Assailed by autograph hunters, Barthou took off his coat the better to sign.

Rush To Nome

Sending Supplies To Freeze Fire Stricken City Before Re-Open

Nome, Alaska.—Another rush to Nome was in the making, but it will have little resemblance to the gold rush of 1898 and subsequent years.

This time it will be a rush of supplies and a battle of man against time and temperature.

Hoping to rebuild the fire-stricken city in part at least before the Arctic ice shuts out all shipping a few weeks hence, the citizenry laid plans for quick transportation of lumber and other construction materials as well as food and medical supplies.

The Alaska Steamship Company cut its freight rates in the form of building material and relief supplies saving Seattle aboard the steamer Dellwood.

New Bank Governor

Rumless Silk Stocking

Halifax.—A. G. Sandoz, technician at Dalhousie University here, claims he has found what every girl is looking for—a rumless silk stocking. He has evolved a solution which, when applied to the silk in the form of a wash or rinse, is supposed to make the fibres stronger and more elastic.

New Bank Notes Smaller

Ottawa.—Canada's new bank notes, under the Bank of Canada, will be issued about four months from now. It is reported they will be six inches long and 2 1/2 inches wide. The present notes are 7 1/2 by 3 1/2 inches and United States notes are 6 1/2 by 2 1/2 inches.

Lodges Disbanded

GRAVELLING THE ROAD

Peculiar as it may seem, yet the statement would be substantiated by any traveling man, that the closer one gets to the boundary of a province, the poorer usually becomes the roads, especially when departing from the main artery of traffic. Thus a large town, such as Wainwright, situated near the boundary of a sister province often is handicapped by a poor network of roads leading into it from a distance.

Enterprising citizens will therefore be pleased to note while pursuing the daily of Saturday last the following tender:

12.D.—Edmonton-Wainwright Highway. From Irma to Wainwright, a distance of 18 miles. 185,000 cubic yards excavation work.

Not long ago the writer was a complete stranger to these parts. Thus the perplexing situation faced him when intending to journey to Wainwright as to which road would best be suited for the trip.

From Weyburn, in southern Saskatchewan, to Biggar, in northern Saskatchewan, a distance of over four hundred miles one may travel directly over a gravelled road. But the balance of the journey is made over a dirt road. Some dirt roads are good to travel on, but when rains saturate their surfaces, all joy of motoring is cast aside, in fact the driver is often perplexed and worried. To get to Wainwright or Irma from south Saskatchewan, a piece of road none too good to negotiate must be passed over somewhere. From Chauvin, going south, a fair road may be selected for rainy weather but, when dry it is too sandy for comfortable travel.

The extension of the gravelled road from Edmonton, to now reach Wainwright from Irma, is a piece of news which will be received by our citizens, Irma citizens and the district generally, as a step by the powers that be in the right direction. Probably we will voice their sentiment by stating it will be much appreciated. Of course, every city cannot be blessed with the first gravelled road that passes through the province, but the distance from the northern gravelled road to a parallel along the line of Irma would not be excessive in any road building program. Our city fathers, municipal authorities and all other outstanding individuals who have been instrumental in pressing for this service are to be commended for their persistence. May they press on until the gravel roads of Saskatchewan are reached via Irma and Wainwright. And this paper joins with the citizens and members of the community in stating its approbation of having such energetic men in charge of affairs to press and procure this much desired surface graveling of a main road through our district and past our town.

Expressing Opinions

Elsewhere in this paper appears should be given an opportunity an article in the Editor's Letter expressing their thought is publicly. Box which breathes of politics. The we have therefore published the editor wishes it distinctly understood letter and anyone whose thoughts that in any district there may be run in a different direction, is welcome to respond to this, or any sub-opinions are diametrically opposed sequent article, insofar as the editor to the majority. Yet these people is concerned.

A HUMOROUS STRAIN WITH WHICH OUR NEIGHBORS
HAVE TICKLED THEIR READERS

The ducky was rowing the minister down the river, conversation lagged. Suddenly the colored man opened a shining match.

"Missah Preacher, did yo' ever see the Statute of Liberty?"

"No," said the preacher.

"Then a quart of yo' life wasted." One minute elapsed, then the colored man again asked, "You ever see the Hudson River?"

"No," said the preacher.

"Then a half of yo' life wasted." "Missah Preacher, you ever see Philadelphia at night?"

"No," said the preacher.

"Then three quarters of yo' life wasted." Just then the boat struck a snag, and overturned and the colored gent asked "Can yo' swim?"

"No," said the minister.

"Too bad," said Sambo All yo' life wasted."

The professor took his seat in the tram, and had his rather shapeless hat on the seat beside him. Soon a lady entered and, without noticing the hat, sat down beside him.

After a long ride, into the suburbs they approached the professor's street. Turning to the woman, he said: "Pardon me, madam, may I have my hat?"

She was confused, and she blushed and then tried to apologize but, he snopped her with a smiling remark: "Do not be disturbed. It is nothing. In fact, you have increased the value of the hat; for it was felt—now it is satin."

"The old Indian was riding along the road on his pony, while his squaw followed on foot, heavily burdened with luggage.

"Ssy, Redskin, why isn't your wife riding," asked a passing motorist.

"Light," answered the Indian, "she got no pony."

AVONDALE U. F. W. A

A regular meeting of the Avondale U. F. W. A. was held on September 20th at the home of Mrs. M. Dalton. With all members present also several visitors.

The meeting opened by singing "Loch Lomond." After the routine of business, Mrs. Good, school inspector, gave us a very interesting talk on musical festivals, which we felt sure everyone enjoyed.

Miss Doris Johnson gave a very amusing reading entitled "The baby's first tooth." The demonstration by Mrs. Barrett was left over until next month, when there are several other crepe paper demonstrations.

The meeting closed by singing "Blest be the tie that binds." Lunch was then served by the hostess, assisted by several of the young ladies which brought to a close a very enjoyable afternoon.

The next meeting will be on October 18th at the home of Mrs. Barrett.

CARDIFF, Wales—Parnts with from ten to twenty children are still to be found in large numbers in this principality, in nearly every centre. In Cardiff there are five families of twenty and more children, and about twenty with from fifteen to twenty. Most of the children are under sixteen—a remarkable fact in view of the post-war tendency to limit families to two or three.

ARE ALL TRUCK

In every inch of Design
In every ounce of Construction

TRUCK quality must be of a different stamp than PASSENGER-CAR quality. Truck users want rugged stamina, for rigorous service! That is why you have lately seen in the truck advertising of some manufacturers so much talk of "all truck." They are aiming to satisfy the demand. But they are only claiming what International Trucks have delivered for many years—EXTRA capacity for taking punishment and giving value. For more than twenty years the International Truck builders have built only trucks. No automobiles—no tempting opportunity to compromise. The new stream lined International, with all their beauty of line, give you International ALL-TRUCK QUALITY. Sizes from ½-ton up, at all International branches and dealers. IN-COMPETENT ADMINISTRATION

Editor of Record:
Since through the columns of your valued newspaper kindly permit me to draw to the attention of your readers what I consider the incompetency of the present Federal administration in recent months.

To the man in the street, the inability of the Federal and provincial government, to handle the unemployment and relief situations in a practical and efficient manner, is disconcerting and discouraging.

Ever since the federal government took command of the situation in July 1931 their whole course of action has been a series of mistakes, blunders and missteps, not largely due to failure to grasp the full dimensions and magnitude of the situation and the inability of the executive members of the government to apply that efficiency of administration which might have made a success of the measures they did undertake.

As we all know the parliament of Canada gave the Bennett Government full and absolute power to use any and all means necessary to meet conditions that had arisen as a result of the combined effects of drought and depression. The liberal party gave the government full support in the passage of the necessary legislation to cope with the situation realizing that the condition obtained was one bordering on a national disaster and that it was no time to play politics. Since then the only arresting acts of this government, endowed with dictatorial powers, have been the re-circling of wheels of a social bombast for which the premier is so justly renowned. He is either threatening to blast his way into the European markets, or calling upon the Canadian people to uphold the principle of "sound money," even if it is at the cost of human misery. What of the half million people in Southern Saskatchewan and South East Alberta, who have been fighting drought and depression on the past five or six years and who have lost home and fortune and for whom the future holds nothing but a bleak picture of desolation, human grief and woe. In these people's conditions any better to-day than it was in July, 1931? As a matter of fact it is infinitely worse, in spite of something like fifty million dollars having been spent upon questionable systems of relief.

The drought and depression has created a condition in Western Canada that constitutes the biggest problem the Dominion has had to face since the war. Yet in spite of this and other matters of a vital domestic nature demanding immediate attention, we find the leader of the government wasting his time posing, parading at the court of Europe tendering advice as to the propriety of trading with Russia again, and supporting Poland in some move she is making at Geneva. To Hell with Russia! To Hell with Poland! What did they ever buy from us? If he would confine his efforts to the North American continent, where we have as neighbors 120,000,000 of the wealthiest people in the world with whom we could make some trading arrangements that would be mutually beneficial.

As we write, press dispatches advise us that the United States authorities have men in Edmonton interviewing the provincial minister of Agriculture with regard to the amount of hay they can buy here to feed their starving herds, and it is reported that they may buy 200,000 tons from each of the Prairie provinces. To what advantage could the thousands of the unemployed be put to work making hay in Northern Alberta and Northern Saskatchewan, the past two months. How much better to hand these poor unfortunate things employed, rather than having them chased from town to town by the authorities.

What a lack of foresight! God help this country while depending for guidance upon the present government.

ANOTHER SLEEP WALKER

There was a man who had a dream and in this dream he harboured a strange delusion to the effect that he was a writer and could think of witty jokes. So he sat down and got whatever it was he had in place of a brain to work and devised, what he considered was an extremely clever and witty joke regarding a couple of chips, like are substituted by second rate writers in their profession.

After reading it over a couple of times (so he could memorize it) and trying to impress on it (with no success he took it to the local printing office to have it published so that the whole countryside might know that he was so extremely clever and had such a highly developed sense of humor.

The staff in the office being kindly people and not wishing to destroy his fool's paradise, published his joke, and so far no one has laughed at it only himself.

Where ignorance is bliss let no one make him wise.

ACCUSED IN THE LINDBERGH CASE

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Police Commissioner, John R. O'Brien Thursday issued the following statement in connection with the Lindbergh case:

"The taking into custody of Bruno Richard Hauptmann today marks an unending and closely connected effort on the part of the New York police department, the Jersey Troopers and the department of justice, to bring to a solution of the Lindbergh kidnapping, and with the facts at hand we are assured that the first and most important stage of the police work has been accomplished."

The accused was traced through a make money, paid in ransom, it was hard to trace when issued in small demon nations, but about three weeks ago $20,000 and $20,000 gold certificates began to appear.

In connection with this $20,000 gold certificate was traced to a shoe store.

"Subsequently, one of the ransom bills bearing an automobile license number was discovered in the Corn Exchange Bank of Park Ave. and 125 St. from there the bill was traced to a gas station in the vicinity of the bank."

The operator of the gas station described the customer who passed the $20 gold certificate in an almost identical fashion on the one described by the Fordham shoe store proprietor.

"Securing the name and address of the owner of the automobile bearing the license number appearing on the bill, the investigators kept the premises under surveillance. Because of the importance of the case and the danger in the least, position, the men acted with caution and at nine a.m. Tuesday, Bruno Richard Hauptmann was seen to leave his residence in the automobile bearing the license which appeared on the bill and started toward Yorkville with the detectives following."

"He was immediately taken back to his house and while questions were admitted passing the $10 and $20 gold certificate found by the police. He denied, however, all knowledge of the Lindbergh ransom money."

"Meanwhile a search of the place was instituted and a pair of shoes located and identified by the Fordham shoe store proprietor was found."

"Today, in continuation of the search of the house, Detectives John Murphy, Frank Dunn and James Petrali, of the New York police department; Sergeant Wallace, of the New Jersey state police and Special Agent Turpin, of the department of justice, found after a diligent search of the entire premises, $13,750 hidden under the floor of the garage and in the sash of the door."

"From the many conflicting stories Hauptmann has told detectives, we learned that he is 35 years old, born in Saxony, Germany, and, after serving in the German army, stowed away in the steamship Washington, arriving in the United States at New York in 1923."

"He explains the presence of the money as a result of careful saving, and the gold certificate as a foresight, with word of the supposed inflation shortly after President Roosevelt took office."

Yes, if I called you a rhinoceros it was an insult. Not to you, but to the rhinoceros."

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Traffic earnings of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company for the week ended Sept. 14 totalled $2,942,000, as compared with $2,454,000 in the corresponding period last year, an increase of $488,000.

Jeffrey Arnot, assistant purchasing agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has been promoted to the post of assistant purchasing agent with headquarters at Vancouver, B. W. Roberts, general purchasing agent, Montreal, announced.

Canadian farm products exported to the United States in August were valued at $1,366,000, an increase of more than $500,000 compared with the corresponding month last year when they amounted to $833,000, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported.

The cost of living in England increased by one per cent. during August, the Labor Ministry Gazette stated. Taking July, 1914, as the average, the cost of living index was 143 per cent. on September 1 compared with 142 on August 1. The index stood at 141 in September, 1913.

Full freedom for civil servants to participate in politics even to the extent of being a candidate in the federal, provincial or municipal arenas, through leave of absence without pay, will be sought during the coming session of parliament by the Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada.

Grave fears as to the survival of the French-Canadian race as a distinct entity on Canadian soil are felt by Mayor Camille Houde, of Montreal. Speaking at a ceremony to commemorate the arrival in Canada of Jacques Cartier, the mayor questioned the likelihood of the race's survival.

The weekly illustrated paper, "Canada," published in London for the past 27 years, is being merged with another weekly, the "Canadian Gazette." The editor and founder of the former publication, Walter LeRoy, closes 37 years of prominent association with Canadian news work in London.

Minister of Finance E. N. Rhodes declined to say definitely whether Canada would follow the lead of the United States and nationalize silver. An assurance was sought by two Montreal silver exchange officials, but the finance minister said he could not be expected to make any definite statement on a government policy of such importance.

WHAT DOES YOUR HANDWRITING SHOW?

By LAWRENCE HIBBERT
(Grapho-Analyst)
(All Rights Reserved)

The increased interest in Grapho-Analytic, the science of character delineation from handwriting, has brought in its train not only a host of converts, but the inevitable sceptic.

One of the most frequent objections is posed by those who ask: "How can handwriting show one's character, when we are taught not to write from the same copybook in school?"

The answer to this objection only proves how strongly handwriting does show character. Because if you will study the writing of a single class of students who have learned writing from the same copybook, a few years afterwards, you will find two who write alike.

Each one writes differently—a different slant, a different pressure, and differing conformations of letters. This shows that, as one grows, one's character changes or strengthens, and one's handwriting changes too.

And, whilst I am discussing objections, I would like to stress that it is not possible to tell a person's age or sex from handwriting. Here and there, a trained grapho-analyst will be able to hazard a guess. There is no scientific foundation for it, however, and consequently, no reputable grapho-analyst will attempt it.

I have seen women's writing that looked masculine, and conversely I have examined the writing of men that looked for all the world like that of a woman. Then again some young people write a mature hand, and on the other hand I have seen the writing of a man of 50 which seemed to be that of a youth in his teens. We can only get from handwriting what is in it.

There is increasing evidence that certain ailments can be discerned from handwriting. People suffering from heart trouble reflect this condition in their writing.

But grapho-analysis has not yet attained the point where it is possible to analyze the mind from handwriting with entirely scientific accuracy.

These are factors that time and continued research will attain, but character analysis from handwriting is an accomplished fact. And it is also true, that vocational guidance can be given by trained grapho-analysts.

If you want to discover your own characteristics and traits, as revealed by your handwriting, take advantage of the offer made at the foot of this article.

D.N.—You are ruled by your heart—Impulsive; emotional appeals will always draw your sympathy. You are inclined to get hysterical. There is evidence of good powers of concentration. If you get really interested in anything, you do no difficulty in concentrating all your powers on it. You like to move around; to change environment. You are not content to remain passive in a routine way.

F.B.—You have considerable depth of feeling and a desire to get on in the world. There is a sense of balance displayed. You do not talk too much. You are inclined to be clanish; you do not make friends indiscriminately. Mechanical or engineering work is indicated.

These are, of course, merely brief extracts from analyses.

Would you like to know what your writing tells? And that of your friends? You will be amazed at the revelation disclosed. Send a letter in your normal writing, and state birthdate in each case. Enclose with 10c coin (for each separate specimen) and 3c stamped addressed envelope. Replies will be mailed as soon as possible, but please allow at least two weeks. Address: Lawrence Hibbert, Grapho-Analyst, c/o Winnipeg News-Paper Union, 175 McDermott Ave., E., Winnipeg, Man.

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Barclay)

BAKED CORN AND TOMATOES

- 2 cups cooked corn
- 2 cups tomatoes
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Pepper
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1 cup fresh bread crumbs
- 3 tablespoons butter

Mix seasonings with the corn and tomatoes and pour all into a greased baking dish. Spread the crumbs over the top, dot them with the butter and bake in a moderate oven for one-half hour. This is a satisfactory way of utilizing left over corn or tomatoes.

BAKED PRUNES

Cover 1 pound of prunes with cold water and let stand for four hours. Drain prunes and reserve the liquor; add ¾ cup sugar to the liquor and boil until the sugar is dissolved, skimming if necessary. Place the drained prunes in a covered casserole, cover with hot liquor and bake in moderate oven (325 degrees F.) 40 minutes.

It appears that a saxophone belonging to a well-known jazz player was lost recently. We understand that, despite frantic efforts by his family and the neighbors, it was found.

Dodges High Taxes

Woman Of 90 To Marry Young Man
So State Will Not Get Her Money

Life to Antonia Moreira of Lisbon, Portugal, has consisted of one tax collector after another and now at the ripe old age of 90 she is going to strike back. She's going to marry a man of 24.

Court permission has been given for the marriage. Senora Moreira said she would die very shortly and that it would be a sin if I died and all my belongings should pass over to the state's treasury, which did nothing all through my life but collect taxes.

In marrying a young man, she was sure that her possessions would mean a good chance in life for him who, strong and young, might then be happier in life, despite the high taxes.

To Safeguard Pedestrians

Beacons To Be Erected In London
Streets For This Proposal

"Bellah Beacons" will be erected for protection of London pedestrians, another feature of the war on motor accidents. They get their name from Leslie Bellah, minister of transport, who presided at a conference when it was decided to introduce them.

These are posts seven feet high with a yellow-painted glass globe, mounted at the top. They will be put at the crossing-places for pedestrians. In the dark they will reflect headlights a quarter of a mile away.

Restrained Praise

The Winnipeg Free Press says: "Sir Ronald Lindsay on his return to Washington gave an interview to the press in which he disclosed unparalleled enthusiasm for a Britisher—on the conditions in the tight little island. His exuberant phrase was that, 'Britain is getting on after a fashion.'"

The deepest safe diving limit for any submarine yet constructed is 450 feet.

Makes Rubber Horseshoes

Jan Bailey, proprietor of a Frisco pottery works, has started making real shoes for horses—out of rubber. He claims that they last 12 times as long as metal shoes and do not slip. The designer points out that the sides of God and of the cobble streets and squares of Central Europe, especially when it slips in summer. They give a better grip and are only a third of the weight of metal.

Science Shows That There is Gold in the Sea

Science has shown that there is gold in the sea, but the authorities on this subject are in dispute as to the quantity. Figures given indicate that there are about 700 ounces of the precious metal for each of the two billion inhabitants of the earth, which would amount to $24,500 per person if gold is valued at $35 per ounce.

It is any wonder then, that ever since chemistry became an exact science, plans have been proposed to mine this wealth from the sea? One famous scientist tried by the idea was the late Dr. Fritz Haber, who was awarded the Nobel prize for his method of producing ammonia gas from the air. He found such small amounts in sea water that he concluded the idea was impractical. In his opinion there is more gold in the living organisms of the sea than there is in the sea water.

Recent developments seem to indicate that the chemist of the next decade may be able to extract gold from sea water commercially. This is based upon the fact that a plant has been built in the United States for the extraction of bromine from the ocean.

Bromine is used in the production of ethyl gasoline and hence is in great demand. A few years ago chemists turned to sea water for bromine, even though it contained only seventy parts of bromine in a million of water. Very large quantities of water must be treated—2,000 gallons to obtain a pound of bromine.

It is easy to see why scientists talk so confidently of securing gold from sea water. Bromine is only worth twenty cents a pound whereas gold is valued at about $35 an ounce. Thus, in spite of the fact that there is much less gold than bromine in sea water, science is hopeful of mining gold on a commercial scale from the ocean. It has been estimated that the gold content of sea water is about $25,000,000 a cubic mile.

Flying At High Altitudes

Wiley Post Says Fast Time Made In Upper Stratos In Near Future

Wiley Post, round-the-world flyer whose most recent interest has been an experiment with an aeroplane that would make commercial flying practicable at altitudes of around 40,000 feet, arrived in Vancouver recently.

Since he completed his solo flight around the world in the record time of seven days, 18 hours and 49 minutes, Post has been working at development of a high altitude ship. He said he believes his machine is capable of sustained flight at around 40,000 feet and will make 350 miles per hour at that altitude. He is certain high altitude flying will be commercially general before long.

For flights of 300 miles it will be economically better to rise at least to 20,000 feet, Post said, and for longer flights, machines will travel from 40,000 to 50,000 feet above the earth.

Estimates set the cost of the proposed inter-American highway from Alaska to Argentina at $165,000,000.

It is any wonder then, that ever since chemistry became an exact science, plans have been proposed to mine this wealth from the sea? One famous scientist tried by the idea was the late Dr. Fritz Haber, who was awarded the Nobel prize for his method of producing ammonia gas from the air. He found such small amounts in sea water that he concluded the idea was impractical. In his opinion there is more gold in the living organisms of the sea than there is in the sea water.

Recent developments seem to indicate that the chemist of the next decade may be able to extract gold from sea water commercially. This is based upon the fact that a plant has been built in the United States for the extraction of bromine from the ocean.

Bromine is used in the production of ethyl gasoline and hence is in great demand. A few years ago chemists turned to sea water for bromine, even though it contained only seventy parts of bromine in a million of water. Very large quantities of water must be treated—2,000 gallons to obtain a pound of bromine.

It is easy to see why scientists talk so confidently of securing gold from sea water. Bromine is only worth twenty cents a pound whereas gold is valued at about $35 an ounce. Thus, in spite of the fact that there is much less gold than bromine in sea water, science is hopeful of mining gold on a commercial scale from the ocean. It has been estimated that the gold content of sea water is about $25,000,000 a cubic mile.

Flying At High Altitudes

Wiley Post Says Fast Time Made In Upper Stratos In Near Future

Wiley Post, round-the-world flyer whose most recent interest has been an experiment with an aeroplane that would make commercial flying practicable at altitudes of around 40,000 feet, arrived in Vancouver recently.

Since he completed his solo flight around the world in the record time of seven days, 18 hours and 49 minutes, Post has been working at development of a high altitude ship. He said he believes his machine is capable of sustained flight at around 40,000 feet and will make 350 miles per hour at that altitude. He is certain high altitude flying will be commercially general before long.

For flights of 300 miles it will be economically better to rise at least to 20,000 feet, Post said, and for longer flights, machines will travel from 40,000 to 50,000 feet above the earth.

Estimates set the cost of the proposed inter-American highway from Alaska to Argentina at $165,000,000.

Even Rheumatic Pains Eased Fast Now!

BAD HEADACHES, NEURITIS PAINS OFTEN
RELIEVED IN MINUTES THIS WAY

Remember the pictures below when you want fast relief from pain. Demand and get the method, dose and prescription—Aspirin.

Millions have found that Aspirin eases even a bad headache, neuritis or rheumatic pain often in a few minutes!

In the stomach as in the glass here, an Aspirin tablet starts to dissolve, or disintegrate, almost the instant it touches moisture. It begins "taking hold" of your pain practically as soon as you swallow it. Equally important, Aspirin is safe. Scientific tests show that Aspirin does not harm the heart. Remember these two points: Aspirin Spasmodic Aspirin Softly. And, see that you get ASPIRIN. It is made in Canada, and all druggists have it. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every Aspirin tablet.

Get 12 tablets or economical bottle of 24 or 100 at any druggist's.

Why Aspirin Works So Fast

IN 2 SECONDS BY STOP WATCH
An Aspirin tablet starts to disintegrate and go to work.

What happens in these minutes happens in your stomach. A few minutes after taking.

THE TENDERFOOT

SYNOPSIS

"You've fallen heir to a half-share in plenty of trouble," the lawyer told Gerald Keene. "The Broken Spur has been systematically looting the ranch, and old Joe Carr, your partner, is drinking himself into ruin."

(Now Go On With The Story)

"What seems to be the trouble?" Keene's tone was anxious.

"Exactly what I asked old Ben. He said that as far as he can see there are two reasons; Carr is mighty old fashioned . . . and the Broken Spur is next to 'em."

"Well, what of it? These days some one's got to be next door."

"Huh. You're damned innocent for the man I know you to be. I suppose you never heard of rustlin'?"

"That's archaic," said Keene sharply. "Men don't rust these days."

"Think so? Wait a bit! Old man Carr is always short of cash. He has to hire his men just for the time he needs 'em. He's got about only four or five men permanently on his payroll. That means that poverty keeps him from buyin' up a bunch of waddies he could count on to charge hell with a cup of water if the Hour-glass needed it. He's honest, too, and that's a handicap when he lives next to the Broken Spur. For years Dustin and Goddard have been tryin', by a lawsuit, to get the water supply that makes the Hour-glass valuable. Can't you see what happens? Old man Carr, crippled, is bein' robbed deaf, dumb and blind to make him sell his place."

"But he can only sell his share. Half of the place is mine."

"Well then . . ." Stone hailed himself erect in his chair. "It looks to me as if one Gerald Keene, before long, will find himself partner to two crooks. If old man Carr is right. Don't you see? Old man Carr will have to sell his half of the Hour-glass to these men Dustin and Goddard to stand square with the world."

"Does your friend Lyon say these men Dustin and Goddard are two crooks?"

"He didn't have to say so. He said he couldn't understand 'em. Old Ben is so straight that the only man he doesn't understand is a crook. Why?"

"Well . . ." I told old man Burwell I was goin' to run down to the Hourglass and have a look at the place. If I go as the half-owner I'll learn exactly nothing! If there's any crooked work goin' on, I'm thinkin' it'll be best for me to go down there with a letter of introduction from Gerald Keene, the half-owner of the Hour-glass, to old man Carr. To get me a job down there and see for myself what's goin' on."

"Huh. Gerald Keene'll learn nothing! But good on Gerald Keene's ranch," said Stone grinning.

"That's so. I can't go to the Broken Spur because if Dustin and Goddard are really crooked, they'll not be hirin' any strangers on the ranch. If things are as crooked as men say the Hour-glass'll be the place to learn about it. My plan's the best. I'll go down there with a letter from Gerald Keene, and you stay here till you hear from me. I'll get me a job . . ."

"Huh! What kind of a job? A qualified cowpuncher'll be under suspicion the minute he hits the place. Why would a qualified workman take with a bunch of rustlers when there are others better able to pay him what he's worth? You can't get a job."

Keene slapped him on the shoulder. "You're on. I can't. But I'll go as a tenderfoot. I'll make better of it. I know the type. Druggists cowpunchers! Nickel plated gun! bearskin chaps! Bought straight from Montgomery-Ward. Shucka, man! You can't do it. You can't fool anybody who's ever worked a canteen. Your walk, your color; the way you ride . . ."

"I'll show you. Let me at that telephone till I order some stuff."

In five minutes he had sent an order crackling across the wire.

"To be delivered in twenty minutes sharp."

In a half-hour it was there and a grinning boy pounced the receipt. Keene thrust the boy into the hall, untied the package and turned to Stone.

"You damned old Doubting Thomas," he said. "I'll show you! Wait."

He was gone like a whirlwind. A half-hour later the inner door opened and a new figure stood in the doorway. Newness overlay all his garments. His etched boots wrinkled about the ankles and his red-and-green shirt fairly creaked in its creases. His white goatskin chaps had evidently been combed and newly brushed and a nickel-plated six gun showed three freshly lit cartridges across its butt whereas both legs laughed mightily. Stone roared with laughter and Keene raised himself on his toes and studied his reflection in the long glass.

"I'm Duro Stone," he said. "I'm goin' down to the Hour-glass to get me a job tuckin' cows and calves into their little beds. I'm goin' to learn all there is to be learned about cows an' their ways. I'm not Gerald Keene. I'm Duro Stone who used to sell papers on the Rock Island route. I always did want to be a cow-puncher. Will I do?"

"God knows what you'll do," quoth Stone between grins. "But if you find out what the trouble is at the Hour-glass or the Broken Spur, you wire for me Gerald Keene. That's me! I'll help you chase the ban off the nest."

"Wait . . ." Keene came back from the closet with a bottle and glasses. "Here's the health of Keene an' Stone . . . I'll wire if I need you."

"And when I hear," said Duro Stone, left behind, "I'll wire a-run-in."

"You may need to," said Keene soberly. "I hope not but I'm afraid." "All right, Old Timer. To the health of the new Duro Stone."

CHAPTER II

"There he comes now! That's old Dad Kane as sure as shootin' . . ."

Sam Dustin, half-owner of the Broken Spur ranch, jerked a finger to the west and Spike Goddard, his partner, rose slowly and squinted in to the dust-haze of the range.

"You're a damned fool ever to have grubstaked that old fool Dad Kane," he said emphatically. "It's all your doin', too. Three hundred dollars plumb throwed away."

His words carried a sting. They were meant to do just that. Everything that Spike Goddard said or did carried a sting. His red face; his cold blue eyes, his wire-striffed reddish beard all bespoke combativeness and Dustin felt that sting. He knew that silence under the whip-lash of his tongue would annoy Spike more than any speech.

Dustin and Goddard had owned the Broken Spur for several years and all Crevasse County wondered how they made it pay. That they did make money was clear but none knew how they did it. Old Sam Peters, the decrepit old cobbler at the only bank in Seco, could have told them but there were good reasons why Peters should tell nothing that affected Sam Dustin.

"If you'd told me three years ago that you were aimin' to grubstake old Shummy Skin Kane," said Goddard, "I'd have told you it was the ac' of a damn fool."

"I know. An' then you stopped me from takin' up the Bar Circle range lease for grass," snapped Dustin. "That cost us over ten thousand. All because you were scared to take a chance."

This time Spike flushed. A man does not care to be reminded of his timorous moments that cost him money. He stood by his partner, scowling off into the sunset. Joint owners of the Broken Spur, they were as different as black is from red. Sam Dustin's tall little figure, his dark, handsome face, his flawless teeth made a perfect foil for his partner who was, as a man, Editor of the Seco Courier said: "As red as a fox and twice as sly. I wouldn't trust the pair any further'n I'd trust a coyote in a henyard."

The negro cook came out and pounded the supper summons on a big iron triangle that hung on a China-berry tree and the men trooped from the bunk-house to supper but the two partners gave no sign. They continued to stare across the corral at a great red dust-cloud that moved slowly along the distant wire-fence. Under that dust-cloud dim shadows resolved themselves into three pack-ed burros followed by a slouching figure that prodded the rear-most burro with a short goad. At each prod the reluctant burro trotted a few steps but dropped back into a walk. Dustin laughed.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

DAWN

Dawn, coming up with its splendor
Blazoned in gold and in blue;
Dawn, with its message of courage,
Old as creation, yet new!

Tasks that are waiting the toiler,
That that is waiting the old,
After the night and its dozing,
Now, as its banners unfold.

Labor and laughter and loving,
Planning and pleasure and pain,
Ever with dawn life beginning,
Lifting its ringing refrain.

Dawn with its promise of power
Setting the teatime heart free,
Brimming men's thoughts with fresh aror.

Hinting of triumphs to be
Answer to prayers made—in anguish,
Symbol of sorrow withdrawn,
After the night and its dozing.

After the dark, comes the dawn!
Canadian-grown root seed compares favourably with the best im-

profitable crops.

AIR-CELL BRINGS
AN ENTIRELY NEW
THRILL IN RADIO

TO HOMES NOT HAVING ELECTRICITY!

"Heard the big ball game this afternoon, Jim—came in clear as a bell too. No, we haven't electric wiring in our house, but our new Air-Cell radio sounds every bit as good as my cousin's electric set down in the city."

"I used to get into town every time our storage battery ran down. This new radio uses an Air-Cell battery that never needs recharging. I don't mind staying home, though, because our Air-Cell set brings in programs we never heard clearly before."

"That new Air-Cell radio is a wonderful convenience. Our old storage battery was always giving trouble, and half the time we couldn't get the music loud enough. This new set has such an even current that you can hear perfectly all the time."

EVEREADY RADIO BATTERIES

The invention of the EVEREADY Air-Cell "A" Battery has made possible this entirely different battery-powered radio that gives the glorious full tone hitherto only heard in electric sets.

The EVEREADY Air-Cell "A" Battery lasts for at least 1000 hours, which at 3 hours a day is almost a year's service in the average household, and does away entirely with the annoyance, expense and loss of time due to frequent recharging.

Used in conjunction with EVEREADY laybills "B" Batteries, Air-Cell radios, made by the leading radio set manufacturers, will perform with all the simplicity and reliability of any electric set.

Ask your radio dealer for a demonstration. AC 101

Laws of Physics

Intricate Point Is Settled At The University Of Saskatchewan

Laws of physics as operating in the court of Magistrate J. B. McKessock at Sudbury, Ontario, have no validity in Saskatchewan. In the physics laboratory at the University of Saskatchewan, are two suspended leaden balls of equal weight. When one ball swinging slowly is struck by one swinging rapidly in the other direction, it is the slowly-moving ball that bounces back while the fast-moving ball continues on its way, becoming almost motionless. An authority on physics points out that if two bodies of differing momentum (weight multiplied by velocity) meet, the resultant momentum will be the same in direction as that of the major force. The majority carries.

An electric current always is passing from the atmosphere into the earth.

Tiny Fish Is Transparent

Species Called Goby Is Found In Tropic Waters

To anglers accustomed to catching deep sea fish on a heavy line, the new fish which swim around in the zoological museum at Stanford University would hardly seem worth while, but to scientists it is the discovery of a decade.

This tiny species, called a goby, and less than two thirds of an inch in length, was brought to the museum by Dr. Albert W. Herre, curator and scientist of international repute, on his return from a 40,000-mile trip in tropic waters.

The little transparent creature, unnamed as yet, is the smallest fish to have a whole backbone of its own. It is found off the Malay peninsula and is one of thousands of new specimens that clutter the museum.

"We caught them," he explained, "in rivers and lakes and the open sea from China to the Carolines, and from Yap to Cape Town."

Try Out New Regulations

Denver Doctors Will Not Quarantine Measles Or Mumps

The presence of mumps, measles and chicken pox will no longer be proclaimed by quarantine signs on Denver residences. The juvenile diseases—triple bugbear of neighborhoods, little children and businessmen—in the future will not keep members of the family indoors and visitors outside.

The quarantine sign has been dropped on advice of physicians who declare that the diseases, while infectious, can be transmitted only by direct contact. And, the physicians also believe, the acutely contagious stages have been passed when the symptoms definitely appear.

The city health board will give the new regulation a one year trial.

Little Helps For This Week

"Let I pray Thee Thy loving kindness be for my comfort, according to Thy word unto Thy servant." Psalm 119:76.

Love divine has seen and counted Every tear it caused to fall; And the storm which Love appointed Was its choicest gift of all.

O that thou couldst dwell in the knowledge and sense of this, even that the Lord beholds thy sufferings with an eye of pity, and is able not only to uphold thee under them, but also to do thee good by them. Therefore grieve not at thy lot, be not discontented, look not at the hardness of thy condition, but when the storms of vexation are sharp look up to Him who can give meekness and patience, can lift up thy head over all, and can cause thy life to grow and be a gain to all. If the Lord God help thee according to thy condition of affliction and distress thou wilt have no cause to complain, but wilt bless His name.—I. Pennington.

Duchess Was Good Substitute

Takes Duke of York's Place And Digs Potatoes

When the Duke of York was unable to visit Sheffield, England, because of a poisoned thumb, the duchess took his place. At a group of allotments, where unemployed men had contributed a penny each to present the duke and duchess with garden implements, their leader said they had hoped the Duke of York would dig up some potatoes with the fork. "Well, I shall try to take his place," the duchess replied.

Unmindful of her high-heeled shoes and her white gloves, the duchess stepped into the potato patch and grasped the big fork firmly. She picked up one of the potatoes, telling the men that she would give the fork to the duke herself.

A Big Change

Lord Willington went from Croydon to Delhi in a week. So much has air travel accomplished. When the first Victoria, Canning, went to his duties in 1858 the trip took more than five weeks. Steamships were slow, and there being no Suez Canal the way was round the Cape.
